2NütGuys, founded by David Ho and Lee Chee Leong, is on a mission to support breastfeeding mothers by offering innovative and healthier nut products.

Inspired by personal experiences, the duo aims to increase milk supply and provide nutritious options for expectant mothers and babies.

Founders of 2NütGuys

Acknowledging the vital contribution of mothers, 2NütGuys incorporates the word “Mummy” in most product names. Their logo, featuring a smiling face and two lactating breasts, symbolises the joy their products bring to breastfeeding mothers.

Despite starting out with $5,000 in initial investment, 2NütGuys has expanded significantly. They started with an industrial blender and eventually established their own production space, “The NutLab,” for research, development, and product manufacturing.

Health Benefits of 2NütGuys’ products

The benefits of 2NütGuys' nut products extend beyond breastfeeding. Their selection of plant-based proteins provides dietary fibre, which controls sugar intake, promotes satiety, and facilitates digestion.

Their goods make great snacks for increasing muscle because nuts are an excellent source of protein. Additionally, they offer a better option for weight loss than conventional protein powders and pills.

Effective in boosting breast milk production, 2NütGuys' Roasted Almond Milk contains over 20% almonds, surpassing the average content found in regular almond milk. Certified Nutri-Grade B, this almond milk option is low in sugar and sweetened with Medjool dates.

Introducing the Naked Nutmond Butter, it caters to expectant mothers and babies. This sugar-free spread, made solely from almonds, provides high protein and fatty acids crucial for brain development.

Their flagship product, Mummy's Nutmond Butter, is a blend of almonds, brewers' yeast, flax and chia seeds, and almond oil. Designed to support lactation, this nut butter uses Gula Melaka instead of white sugar, reflecting their Asian heritage and promoting healthier eating choices.

Alongside Mummy’s Nutmond Butter, they offer Mummy’s Gelato, Mummy’s Walnuts, Caramelised Walnut, and Baby Nutmond Butter.

Their products are available online through their website at <https://2nutguys.com/> with island-wide delivery services.

With their dedication to supporting breastfeeding mothers and commitment to healthier nut-based products, 2NütGuys is revolutionising the lactation nutrient space in Singapore and beyond, empowering mothers to make nutritious choices for themselves and their babies.
